

Steakhouse Beef Sirloin Tri-Tip 8/3# AVG Display Box

Product Description - The tri-tip first became popular in the 1950s in Santa Maria, California, and is also known as “California’s Cut” or “Santa Maria Steak.” Cut from the tri-tip roast, which is part of the bottom sirloin sub-primal cut, these steaks are well-marbled with a melt-in-your-mouth tenderness and rich in beefy flavor while offering a slight buttery taste. Extremely versatile, this choice cut works well with practically any cooking method. Our delicious Tri-Tip Steaks are lean yet tender with a rich meaty flavor with less fat than other cuts. It takes to marinades like no other or season with a dry rub just before cooking, making this premium cut of beef incredibly accommodating. Serve along with grilled vegetables, salads, or drizzle with a complimenting sauce for a meal fit for a king. Chef Tip: Tri-tips have two different grain directions. Locate where the two grains intersect and cut vertically, splitting the tri-tip about in half. Inspect the grain of each piece and thinly slice against each half’s grain.
